Honorable William K. Reilly
Administrator
Environmental Protection Agency
401 M Street
Washington, D.C. 20460

Dear Mr. Reilly:

Business concerns in Georgia for whom I have great respect have advised me that EPA is presently reviewing an application from Ethel Corporation for a gasoline additive which would significantly reduce harmful tailpipe emissions.

Materials I have reviewed show that the additive would cause no health or environmental problems, but would cut down on NOx and CO emissions.

I happen to live in south Georgia and we aren't really bothered by this particular environmental problem. However, when in Atlanta it is clear to see that there is a pollutant condition which should be of great concern to all of us.

I hope the Ethel products meets EPA standards and that it will soon be available to the public.

Sincerely,
